WARTBURG TRUMPET

VOLUME 3 WAVERLY, IOWA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1937 NUMBER 7

PRE-THE'S HAVE CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

Fix Upon Sunday for Annual Program.

The Wartburg Pre-Theological society will sponsor the annual candlelight vesper service in the college gymnasium tomorrow at 4:30.

Erwin Knitt, president of the society, will act as liturgist, while Miss Helen Wetterling, pianist, will accompany the vesper service proper.

The service will open with a piano solo by Arthur Neumann entitled "O Sanctissima," during which time candles will be lighted throughout the auditorium by members of the society, acting as ushers. Immediately following this selection by Mr. Neumann, the Wartburg Chapel choir, which will be fully robed and under the direction of Prof. E. G. Heist, will render two appropriate Christmas selections entitled "This is the Day the Lord Hath Made," by Simper, and "Christmas Is Coming," by Grell.

The vesper service proper, to begin with the reading of a portion of holy scripture from Isaiah 7:1-7, will be followed by a song entitled "Holy Child Meek and Mild" by Heist, rendered by the girls' trio, composed of Miss Irene Drewelow, Miss Norma Neubauer and Miss Amanda Walck.

The entire program, which will be based on the vespers service as found in the Lutheran hymnal, will continue in the following order:

Anthems by the chapel choir, Silent Night, Holy Night, by Gruber, and Kling Klang, by Klug - Heist.

Lesson of the day, Luke 1:26-38.

Song by congregation, Hark, the Herald Angels Sing.

The Magnificent, chanted by congregation.

Anthem by chapel choir, Praise to the Lord, by Christiansen.

Prayer for the day.

Lord's prayer.

Benediction.

Doxology.

Postlude.

An altar, which will be erected on the stage, will consist of a statue of the Christ and two candles. Two Christmas trees and two candelabra will be arranged symmetrically around the altar.

According to Mr. Meinecke, chairman of the committee, assisted by Vincent Huth and Rudolf Anderson, all efforts are being made to make this Advent service one of the most impressive of its kind.

HOLM ADDED TO TRUMPET SPORTS STAFF

Lewis Holm, Clinton, Iowa, has been added to the reporting staff of the sports section of the Trumpet. Lewis will cover intramurals in his writings. Just in case you forget Lewis is the freshman who won the title at tennis champ during the fall tourney.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Revision of Constitution Further Considered.

The Christmas party, which is to be held Dec. 21 was considered at the Dec. 5 meeting of the student council. Dec. 19 was designated as the date for "open house" in the dormitories and dated largely to a further discussion of changes to be made in the constitution.

The meeting of Dec. 12 was devoted in the main to a discussion of the possibility of closing school Dec. 17 instead of Dec. 23 as officially announced in the catalog. The council endorsed a student petition for early closing and resolved to submit it to the faculty.

To the long ago,
To the far away,
Let us rise and go
And have today
Our hearts' delight;
Let our glad eyes rest
Where a virgin fair
To her happy breast
Folds heaven's Heir
This Holy Night.

Let us bend our knees
In a ring around;
With the melodies
In heaven that sound
We join in praise;
For the gift of love
To us mortals given,
For the life above,
O Lord of heaven,
Our hearts we raise!

LUTHER LEAGUE ELECTION HELD

Droste, Wiederaenders, Heist Diekmann, and Neumann Elected to Offices.

Margaret Droste, one year commercial graduate of Wartburg in 1937, was chosen president of the Wartburg Luther League of St. Paul's church at the regular business meeting held in the church basement, Dec. 12.

Other officers chosen during the brief business meeting were: Betty Wiederaenders '41, vice-president; Martin Heist '41, treasurer; Geraldine Diekmann, commercial student, secretary, and Art Neumann, '36, educational secretary. Miss Norma Neubauer, Wartburg freshman, played a piano solo entitled "Etude Appassionata" during the devotional meeting which was led by Mildred Bergmann of Waverly. The social hour was directed by Clarence Badtke and Rudolf Andersen, while Arlene Carstensen, also of the college, served on the refreshments committee.

Swensen Elected to Chairmanship

Prof. A. W. Swensen, head of the chemistry department of Wartburg college, was elected chairman of the science and mathematics section of the Luther area faculty conference at a recent meeting held at Luther college, Decorah, Iowa.

Mr. Swensen, who held this same office in Rock Island in 1936, has been on the Wartburg college faculty since 1932. Previous to that he served as superintendent of schools at Alta Vista, Iowa, and was an instructor in chemistry and physics at Wartburg Normal College.

Professor Swensen received his bachelor's degree from Luther college in 1924 and completed work for his master of science degree at the University of Iowa in 1931.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Wendt of Waverly left for California Wednesday, Dec. 8. They will spend the winter visiting with relatives and friends, and expect to return in about three months. At present their address is Orange, Calif.

PLAYERS STAGE SID HOWARD'S "CHRIS BEAN"

Play Presented Before Large Audience.

Playing before a full house, the Wartburg players furnished the students of Wartburg and citizens of Waverly with an evening of high grade, enjoyable entertainment judging from the many favorable comments heard, the presentation of "The Late Christopher Bean" was thoroughly appreciated by the audience. The play was filled with many clever situations, surprising twists of plot, and bits of subtle unfolding of the history of Bean himself. The humor throughout the play kept the audience in constant laughter. All this was very ably presented by the characters in the play.

Following is the cast of characters in order of their appearance:

Dr. Haggett, Albert Schumacher.

Susan Haggett, Eleanor Gross.

Abby, Ruth Fritz.

Mrs. Haggett, Ada Mae Little.

Ada Haggett, Erna Plotter.

Warren Creamer, A. Reid Jepson.

Tallant, Walter Priebe.

Rosen, Elmer Henrichs.

Davenport, Leonard Domke.

Musical entertainment before the play and between the acts was furnished by Art Neumann and the girls trio composed of Norma Neubauer, Amanda Walck, and Irene Drewelow.

The play was presented under the direction of Prof. Herman Kuhlmann of the English department.

The entire club assisted on the various committees in the presentation of the play. Miss Wright, head of the art department, provided all the art drawings for the play.

The physics and biology departments have prepared two boxes of laboratory equipment for the negro mission school at Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

HOME EC CLASS ENTERTAINS

150 Faculty Members, Wives, and Students Attend Tea Served by Home Ec Class.

Approximately 150 faculty members, wives, friends, and students attended the Christmas tea on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 10, from three to five o'clock. The tea was given by the home economics girls in their department, under the direction of Miss Retzlaff, home economics instructor.

Coffee and tea were served with an assortment of Christmas cookies, "refrigerator," sprigerlees, stollen and rosettes. Most of the food was prepared by the members of the first year foods class.

On the center of the serving table was a large silver star, with red candles burning at each point. A Christmas tree, miniature Santa Clauses, and dim candlelight lent a festive atmosphere.

Frieda Nasson was in charge of the musical background. She was assisted in playing the organ by Norma Neubauer and Esther Grase.

The tea set which was used was bought very recently by the school. Mrs. Kuhlmann furnished the coffee set.

The girls in the foods class who had charge of the kitchen work were: Wilma Bates, Ilma Etts, Ruth Fratzke, Vivian Gluck, Gertrude Sisel, Esther Gruse, Frieda Nassen, Norma Neubauer.

Wilma Burrack and Lillian Roggow, receiving hostesses, greeted guests at the door. Louise Huser and Belva Wrolstad acted as serving hostesses in the dining room.

W. A. A. Serves Hot Dogs Sunday Nights

The last two Sunday evenings the W. A. A. has served hot dogs and coffee in the girl's dormitory from five to six o'clock, since no Sunday evening meals are served in the dining hall.

The committee which took care of the hot dogs on Sunday, Dec. 5, were: Erma Clark, Vivian Gluck and Geraldine Sisel.

On Sunday, Dec. 12, the following girls served on the committee: Eleanor Gross, Irene Gluck, and Madelia Heerschelmann.

CHRISTMAS FETE PROMISES FUN FOR ALL

Prizes To Be Given To Winners of Games.

The all-school Christmas party to be held in the gymnasium Tuesday evening, Dec. 21, promises to be a happy affair. Included in the entertainment will be games, with prizes going to the winners.

The Harmeliodians and the Girls' Trio will offer vocal selections. There will be singing by classes and prizes will be awarded to the group giving the best performance. In keeping with the season, names will be drawn during the evening and gifts distributed. For this, the guests are to bring five cent presents. The refreshments are to be something new and different, according to the committee in charge.

The general chairman of the party is Coach Huth. Carl Kalkwarf is in charge of the program and Miss Niema is chairman of the refreshments committee.

President Braulick will be the principal speaker at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the National Lutheran Leyrer's convention held in connection with the educational conference which is held in the Stevens hotel, Chicago, Jan. 17 and 18.

HEIST

Madison Chorus Sings Heist's Compositions.

Compositions by Prof. E. G. Heist of the Wartburg college music department were featured in a concert by the Brotherhood Male Chorus of Madison, Wis., Thursday evening.

The group of 60 men made its debut a little time after rehearsals which have been held all summer.

Professor Heist's numbers were included in a group devoted to the works of modern composers such as "Christiansen of Norwegian descent and Heist of German Lutheran descent," as stated in the program. The concert, which was presented in a Madison church, was devoted mainly to ancient sacred music.

CANDLE LIGHT SERVICE

The story is told of a proud Roman knight who joined one of the Crusades. He was the first crusader to climb the wall of the Holy City. As a special reward he was privileged to be the first one to light his candle by the fire in the Holy Sepulchre. He was so proud of this honor that he vowed to carry this light back to his home town.

It was more of a job than he had expected. He had to be extremely careful so the wind and the rain did not extinguish the precious light. Day and night he had to protect it. After many hardships and sacrifices he finally reached Florence with his light still burning.

The task of carrying the holy light changed the man completely, we are told. The once proud and haughty warrior had become as gentle as a lamb, as meek as a child, kind and considerate. Otherwise he would never have succeeded in saving his light.

How well are we taking care of the light kindled by the Light of the World? And has it made any difference in our life? "Now are ye light in the world; see then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise." (Ephes. 5).

Our candle light service on the last Sunday in Advent is Wartburg's most beautiful and meaningful tradition. "If we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another." (1 John 1:7).

Will this light still be burning when we reach home on Christmas? Will we safely bring it back to Wartburg?

Let every day of our life be a candlelight service!—J. H.

ORCHIDS TO THE COUNCIL

Commendation of the student council is in order, and especially of its president, Ted Danitschek, for the admirable way they voiced the student opinion during events of the past week.

Regardless of the practicability of the students' demand the council did present the ill-fated cause in its best light and to the best advantage of the students. Such actions prove the value of the council as a coordinating board between students and administration. It is hoped that hereafter the students will more and more encourage and back the student council so that it can make its influence felt in an even greater degree.

The needed constitutional revisions, which the council members are considering at this time, should merit the support of the student body. The student council has served us well in the past. Let us lend our support to a cause that will make them better able to serve us in the future. —C. E. S.

GUT GEMACHT, HERR PROFESSOR

Of all the departments in our college there is one which is annually put on the spot—the German. The majority of students who major in German or do a great deal of work in it enter the seminary at Dubuque. There they must produce the goods.

It has been discovered that there has been some falling off in proficiency during the last two or three decades. The why and wherefore of this is not hard to understand. Former pre-theological students used to be able to speak German upon entering the college or even the academy, and most of the courses in the curriculum were taught in German; now very few of our college entrants know any German with the possible exception of their names, and no courses outside of the German department employ German as the medium of instruction.

Therefore it is particularly heartening to hear from a representative of Dubuque that our graduates of last year have brought with them a rather exceptional proficiency in German.

GOOD WORK, FRESHMEN!

Many of us sometimes feel that a small college, such as we have here, does not draw students of superior intelligence. Lest we be weighed down with such misgivings, let us look at the results of an English Placement test for Iowa Universities and Colleges which our freshman class took near the beginning of the year.

The examination was divided into seven parts—spelling, applied grammar, punctuation, formal grammar, sentence structure, vocabulary, and reading comprehension. The results show that Wartburg's mean exceeds the state, four-year college, and junior college means in all phases of the test except in reading comprehension. Out of a possible 179 points Wartburg's mean totalled 103.5; the means of the other institutions being 97.1 for the state, 96.8 for the four-year colleges, and 98.5 for the junior colleges.

Thus we see that our freshmen are superior in English to the average Iowa freshman class.

SENIORS

HUGH ERIC RICHARD FIETZ, who much prefers the name of "Tootsies," was born at Nelson, British Columbia, on November 16, 1914. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Fietz, who, he says, are engaged in "diversified farming".

He attended the Stoughton high school, Luther college at Regina for two years, and Wartburg these last two years.

Eric belongs to Pre-The, Round Table, and L. S. A. He also listed Pi Sig, but one never knows just what to believe . . .

Eric was the editor of the Trumpet the first part of this school year.

He loves hockey and hates football. He likes prairies — he must be "just a little prairie flower growing wilder every hour."

If you think "Tootsies" is artistic you are badly mistaken, and as far as singing goes he classes himself as a "terrible" tenor. Willowly blondes are his pet peeve, but don't let him kid you—his hobby is getting love letters from a blonde in the dorm.

Interesting experiences of Mr. Fietz are "tryin' to graduate, tryin' to get the better of a guy that's a little bit smarter than you are," and we must add: "tryin' to get across the border."

WILMA MARIE BURRACK, or "Snooks" or "Burrie," came to us from a farm near Monticello, Ia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burrack.

She attended Hopkinton high school, Lenox college at Hopkinton for two years, and then Wartburg these last two years. She plans to teach English and home economics in a high school.

She is a member of the mixed chorus, Round Table, and last year was vice-president of the Home Ec club.

Her favorite sports are kittenball, volley ball, hiking, and sleigh riding. Her hobby is reading love and mystery stories—I bet she would like to solve the mystery of a mouse who roams in the wall right next to her room.

Making fudge is her hobby—she knows the way to a man's heart! Her pet peeve is listening to kids stamp up and down the hall. She would like to organize a school in which she would teach them how to walk.

One of her pastimes is taking a walk in the evening with Ruth (?) She has an unfulfilled ambition: she would like to hitchhike. There are a lot of boys around to get pointers from, Wilma!

She even described her "dream hero": he need not be good-looking, but he should be tall, slender, brunette, a classy dresser, and have SOME intelligence!

EDWARD HENRY HARDEN, just "Ed", hails from the far distant town of Waverly. Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Harden. Mr. Harden manages the Diamond Bros. grocery.

He attended Waverly high school, Iowa State Teachers' college at Cedar Falls for one year, and then Wartburg.

He plans to work after graduation—his father said so! Ed is majoring in biology and will probably teach in a high school. He has a fond dream of becoming a great dentist some day. Maybe that will be his method of getting even with anyone who "gets in his hair" now—he'll get in their teeth.

Ed was the first member of the W club and is still a member. Ed won a place on the All-Conference Tri State football and basketball teams when he was a sophomore. He was captain of the basketball team last year and was high scorer in both the last two years of competition in basket ball. He won the intramural tennis championship in his sophomore and in his junior year. He has won three letters in football and two in basketball.

His favorite sport is tennis. Then basketball and football follow in rapid succession. He also swims and plays golf.

His hobby—so he says; don't blame me!—is women. He says that's enough of a hobby; it takes up all of his spare time.

He has visited both Chicago and New York City. His impression of New York was quite favorable, but he says that he prefers smaller towns.

He just loves poetry, but don't try your masterpiece on him. He goes in for Tennyson and Shakespeare. Perhaps, though, girls, he likes to read poetry aloud . . . When asked if he enjoyed reading detective stories or the like he exclaimed, "Gracious, no!" I think that is his pet phrase, because I heard it several times during the interview. When Ed reads this, he probably will say, "Gracious, no! That isn't right at all!"

A SOCK AT SOC

He was the only one that didn't laugh, besides the professor, I am told, even though he didn't have a shirt on. In fact he didn't even blush.

The gum was out of place, as was the cigaret in his mouth, but he didn't seem to mind, and the professor didn't even see it, or didn't want to anyway.

The tie got his (Soc's) neck dirty since he didn't have a shirt on, but the fleas fom the hunting cap had a hard job sticking on. You see, even old Socrates is pretty dense in Greek class. Plaster paris statues are just made that way.

SMOKE and EMBERS

Spots and splashes and dirty slashes from corridor to corridor and ghost to ghost. Before you leave for vacation, let us liven up your Christmas vacation with some free publicity. Sorry we can't give gifts to everyone, but these gifts are rare—almost as rare, in fact, as the feathers in Seever's mustache. A little warning, freshy: tradition says green apples peel the hardest and that doesn't mean they shouldn't be peeled either.—Domke's is more like a gentleman's, so most of the gals say. We think it reminds one of a football team, with seven in line and four struggling to get through. While on the subject, we might as well tell you that Kirchdoerfer went to see his girl without shaving the other night. He even admitted to a scribe she was "tickled" to death. Of course he wanted it told to us, so he would get a little publicity for a change.—Coach Hertel was misunderstood in biology class the other morning when he said, "My frond fern has sori (last vowel like "eyes). When he said, "They have rhizomes with their roots," Bunger thought he said, "They had rhythm with their boots."—

We thought we were poets until we intercepted this ditty by Carlton Hugo Joseph Mall:

"We should be together,
Instead of apart;
When we're apart,
It breaks my heart."

Those language books which just before a test look like interlinears, certainly seem out of plaee, let alone in Greek.—To further let off steam, might we remark that a eertain individual could profit by saving his jokes until after convocation, as the ones nearest him have come to worship and not to hear his pointless babble.—Our nomination for the best looking couple on the campus is Stanek and Sixel, who are said to have had a swell time together at the Round Table party.—Fritschel's alibi about artistic ability doesn't go over with us any better than with the lady friend in Postville. Three dates with D. D. is too many for one of the least ability. —That party off campus was well nigh a failure to most of the fems. It seems all the fellows went Kucku-k.—The "little" girl sure enjoys reading her mail out loud in the school p. o. According to her there are a lot of poor male fish in her home town. —"College Bred," according to one parent, is a four-year loaf on ma's kneads and pa's dough. —Somebody's going to be taken for a Walck during the coming vacation, if the numerous packages addressed by a maseuline hand from St. Paul mean anything.—Fietz was sure slow to liquidate in Greek elass the other day when Burrack planted a snow ball under him. We were told that the first thaw of spring occurred about the time Doe Haefner called on him. Burrack was overheard asking him after class if he had any hard feelings. "No, but they are definitely dampened," was his retort. — There was no earthquake in Grossmann hall Tuesday night, contrary to reports; only the younger Leschensky was locked in the shower room at 11:45. Besides shaking the whole building, it is rumored he actually made one wisecrack out loud that several people heard. K'n--itt be possible the Proctor heard his soft voice?—K. Hodum wonders whether he's taking Browning or Creative Writing.—Helms has such thin legs that he was hailed into court the other day because he had no visible means of support.—Maybe Kuethe wasn't wrong in calling Wartburg hall a marriage clinic. Did you ever see the lineup in the reception room waiting for one of the fellows' meetings to break up? I suppose they just happen in at that time. We wonder if the fellows don't get tired seeing the same faces after every meeting. Still, they are about the same fellows, we guess. No, we were not there. They sure don't have much "patients" over in the "boys' clinic." We do wish they'd advertise their water carnivals in advance though. Somebody ought to warn Augst about taking his "Baker" skating as she might warm things up too much. Oh yes, Father Time Meinecke (with apologies to F. T. Kron'gr) went modern since the last issue and has made a desperate attempt to get the honor place in this week's column. So, much as we hate to do it, we feel duty bound to award him the dedication of this column.—Says Esther Weiss gazing skyward the other evening, "Isn't the moon romantic to night?" Says Meinecke, "And me without a paint brush!"

Meinecke, like Franklin,
aspires to be wise;
He eulogizes his subject
with utmost disguise.
"Early to bed," and he adds,
"early to Weiss,
Makes the Merry Christmas
that's the apple of my eyes."

Schmitz, Wagner, Leschensky, Holm and Jepson Answer Call for Debaters.

Debate upon the question of "Arbitration of labor dispute by the National Labor Relations Board" will begin immediately following Christmas vacation with several new men vying with last year's squad members for places on the team according to an announcement by Professor Kuhlmann, the forensic coach.

New faces on the squad which has met for preliminary organization are Eugene Leschensky, Edward Wagner, Reid Jepson, Lewis Holm and Charles Schmitz. The first four mentioned have had speech work of one form or another in high school or college while the latter debated at Wheaton college. Several members of last year's squad are expected to report in the near future.

Trips to Dubuque University, Columbia and the Iowa State Teachers college are to be arranged in order to give the squad several intercollegiate contests.

Some material has been secured by the members of the squad and research work on special topics is being conducted. Students with or without experienee are urged to join the squad before concentrated study is begun.

A. Aardal Reviews "Zero To Eighty" In Convocation

"June, 1960: Akkah Pseudomon returned from his six-day flight around the moon today. He made the trip in his high-frequency electric current rocket ship, a sister to the ship carrying the mail from New York to Chicago. The ship attained an average speed of seven miles per second . . ."

It doesn't sound possible—but last Tuesday Professor A. A. Aardal in a report on the book "Zero to Eighty," written by E. F. Northrup, pointed out that such an accomplishment is not only possible, but also probable. The book, published February 15, 1937, is entirely fictitious, but, said Professor Aardal:

"A considerable amount of money has been expended in experimentation and collection of data by laboratory tests to verify the technical portions of the book."

Professor Aardal expressed the belief that by the year 1960 this world will be ready to try experiments very much similar to the feat accomplished by Akkad Pseudomon.

Twenty-three years isn't such a long time; so maybe some of us will have the opportunity of spending our honeymoons on a rocket ship traveling around the moon. But if social activities are to speed up as much in 23 years as traveling, chances are that our hopes may be shattered after all.

OBSERVATION

Education Class Observes School in Country.

Continuing their observance of classroom procedure and teaching methods, ten students in the department of education at Wartburg college visited Washington No. 1 (Goodspeed) rural school one and a half miles east of Waverly Wednesday afternoon to observe the classes of Mrs. Lois Platte.

Miss Mildred E. Smith, county superintendent of schools, and Miss Dorothy Carr, instructor in elementary education at Wartburg, accompanied the students who included the Misses Gail Jackson, Ellen Brechner, Gladys Bauer, Erma Clarke, Gladys Schraeder, Mildred Beneke, Helen Wetterling, Evelyn Loots, Evelyn Eichorst and Henrietta Johnson.

FACULTY SESSION

Faculty Discuses Vacation, New Secretary.

At the regular Tuesday meeting of the faculty two important matters were discussed. The first was vitally interesting to both students and faculty members, namely the length of Christmas vacation. After viewing all sides of the question as presented by both students and faculty members, it was decided to be in the best interest of the school to close on Wednesday, Dec. 22, as announced in the catalog, instead of Friday, Dec. 17, when the students wished to be released.

The second matter that was acted upon was the election of a new secretary of the faculty. Professor Cotterman was elected to this position to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Kaiser. In the future the registrar is, ex officio, to serve as secretary.

This poor old grad, in his freshman daze,
Adopted studious thoughts and ways,
He crammed his Turret Top with fact,
But never learned how one should act.

It's simple arithmetic that the more cars General Motors sells the greater this organization grows. And the solid fact back of that growth is this: General Motors cars must continually offer more in terms of extra value to win those sales. It is only because General Motors is great that it can maintain the research and improvement program responsible for such modern betterments as the Turret Top, the Unisteel Body, No Draft Ventilation, Knee-Action and advanced Hydraulic Brakes.

VARIED TOPICS PRESENTED TO STUDENTS

Ratzlaff, Swensen, Give Educational Talks.

Convocations of the last two weeks have been varied, including educational talks, religious addresses, pep meetings, and a song service.

"Have you quit building?" was the question Prof. A. W. Swensen asked of the student body at the convocation on Monday, Dec. 6. In the field of education, students of today have a wonderful opportunity in that magnificent buildings, fine equipment and a varied curriculum are provided. He said that the student's most important building is being done right now and that each student must strive to build successfully. Colleges, he admitted, are stressing too much the education of the mind and neglecting the education of the heart, which is an essential factor.

A pep meeting in which members of the basketball team were introduced by Coach Hertel, followed the address. Short talks were given by the two captains, Luetkens and Opperman, and cheers were led by the cheer leaders.

Ratzlaff Explains Social Usage.

On Tuesday, Dec. 7, Miss Ida Ratzlaff, who was introduced as "our own Emily Post," addressed the convocation audience on the topic "Social Usage." She said "The one basic principle in social usage is due consideration for the other person, and any rule that has remained through the ages is based on that thought." She then enumerated rules of etiquette pertaining to introductions and conduct at the table. Miss Ratzlaff has placed a question box in the library to enable students to ask questions on etiquette. She announced that she will at some future time endeavor to answer them.

Christmas Carols Sung.

On Wednesday, Dec. 8, the convocation hour was devoted to the singing of Christmas carols.

"Athletes' Quartet."

The convocation on Thursday, Dec. 9 included several humorous songs sung by an "athletes' quartet" comprised of Becker, Rappath, Sandrock and Engelbrecht. A one-sentence talk was given by every member of the basketball squad and by the coach; and cheer-leader Sandrock led the student body in several cheers and the Alma Mater song. Waverly high school students gave a review of "A Pair of Sixes", which was presented that evening.

I. Kuester Leads Matins.

The regular matin service was led by Immanuel Kuester on Friday, Dec. 10. A special feature preceding the service was a trumpet solo, "The Holy City," by Otto Paulsen.

Rev. R. Schlueter Speaks.

On Monday, Dec. 13, the Rev. R. C. Schlueter presented an address to the students. His theme was "Hold Gn and Hold Out." He listed the failings opposed to his motto: Laziness, discouragement, impatience, indecision and superficiality. He said that this rule applied especially to the life of every Christian. The Christian should say to himself, "I can do all things with Christ and for Christ."

N. Y. A. Discussed.

"The National Youth Administration" was the subject of the talk given by Prof. J. O. Chellevold Tuesday, Dec. 14. After sketching the history of N. Y. A. he stated that 600,000 young men and young women worked under N. Y. A. at jobs which vary greatly. He asked, "How long will N. Y. A. last?" Supplying the answer himself, he said that N. Y. A. was very closely tied up with federal relief, and so far the government made little progress in getting out of the relief situation. N. Y. A. may, however, become a permanent policy with education, he said.

Rev. W. Nassen Speaks.

On Wednesday, Dec. 14, the Rev. W. C. Nassen of Allison, Iowa addressed the convocation audience on the topic "Illusions and Disillusionment." After defining the two terms, he said that the remedy for illusion is disillusionment, no matter how painful it may be. "Disillusionment comes with knowledge," he stated. ". . . I want you to look at life as it really is, for only then you will have a chance for success."

3 Experts Give Aid To Home Ec Class

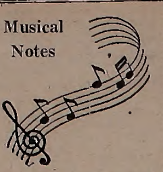
Miss Ratzlaff's first year foods and nutrition class recently called three experts to instruct them in the art of making certain uncommon baked goods.

Miss Elsie Prottengeier, Wartburg's head cook, assisted the girls in the process of making "pfeffernuesse," a German Christmas cookie.

Mrs. Cornils demonstrated the different steps in preparing the German coffee cake called "Stollen". This coffee cake, as she said, can be kept for some time as the glazed fruit it contains keeps it moist and fresh.

Two Norwegian dishes, "Krumm Kager" and "Fattigmand", were demonstrated for the girls by Miss I. Marie Scheie, librarian.

Musical Notes



On Wednesday, Dec. 1, the Wartburg chapel choir under the direction of Professor E. G. Heist presented a short concert of sacred songs during the convocation period. The selections sung were "Christmas Is Coming," "Thine, O Lord", "Kling, Klang" and "Christiansen's 'Praise to the Lord." The program ended with the student body joining the chorus in singing the college song.

Wartburg's a capella choir presented a short concert at last Thursday's convocation exercises. The selections were as follows:

"Angels O'er the Fields," an old French carol; "Lost in the Night," a soprano solo with chorus accompaniment by Christiansen; "Quest of the Shepherds," a Polish carol arranged by Harvey Gaul; and "My God, How Wonderful Thou Art," from the Scotch Psalter.

Lorraine Eckstein, Erna Moews, Ruth McCaffree and Clarence Bodtke formed a violin quartet recently.

A reed quintet, composed of four clarinetists and one flutist, has also been organized. Howard Rebholz, Ellen Brechner, Vivian Gluck, Marie Weiss, and Betty Wiederaenders make up the group.

Erna Piotter and Bill Weiblen have started to study cello playing under the direction of Professor Liemohn.

The "Freshy Trio," Irene Drewelow, Amanda Walck, and Norma Neubauer, sang in last Sunday morning's services at St. Paul's Lutheran church. They also sang two Christmas songs between acts of the play last night.

Christmas Seals

are here again!

They protect your home from Tuberculosis

The lusty town crier on 1937's Christmas Seal brings a two-fold message; one is full of cheer. That ancient enemy of the human race is being slowly but steadily routed; the other is an appeal for "a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together" to complete the overthrow of this plague to mankind.

Thirty years ago nearly 200 people out of every 100,000 of our population were dying from tuberculosis. During these years three and one-half million men, women and children have died from this preventable disease, but had the mortality rate prevailed an additional two and one-half million would have died. Today the tuberculosis mortality rate is 55 per 100,000 in this country and there are more than 500,000 people sick with tuberculosis.

The chief concern of thousands of men and women working with the national, state and local tuberculosis associations is to find tuberculosis in its early stage when cure may be more easily effected. The greatest number of deaths occurs between the ages of 15 and 45 for which age group tuberculosis is still the leading cause of death. In spite of the steady improvement of diagnostic methods, only 13 per cent of cases admitted to sanatoria are found to be in the early stages of the disease and this means there are far too many unrecognized cases in the community infecting their families and neighbors. Only by finding every single case can the disease be stamped out.

Look for the double-barred cross on the seals you buy and use the symbol of the world-wide fight against man's oldest disease enemy. By your purchase of Christmas seals you are helping to build better health for our nation's youth. By your purchase of Christmas seals you are helping to preserve American family life.

Organizations

Deutscher Verein

The Deutscher Verein held a song practice at their meeting last Sunday evening. Various Christmas carols were practiced which are going to be sung next Wednesday morning. The merry carolers will start out at 5:30 a. m. from the girls' dormitory. Anyone interested in proclaiming the Christmas message is asked to be present at that time.

Pre The

The Pre-Theological society met in regular session on Sunday, Dec. 12. A short business meeting was held at which plans for the candlelight vespers for Dec. 19 were made. During the open forum a discussion was held on the question: Are parochial schools of benefit to the church? The question of the 'unpardonable sin' was also raised and briefly discussed. After the open forum, the pre-theological chorus held a brief practice session.

Round Table

Members of the Round Table enjoyed a Christmas party as part of their regular monthly meeting Friday evening, Dec. 10. Each member was permitted to invite a guest for the evening. After trying to find out the name that had been attached to each person's back, progressive bunco was played at five tables. Upon computation of the scores it was found that Juneaver Radloff was high and Paulus Braulick was second high. Low honors for the evening were carried away by Herman Senft. Refreshments in the form of Christmas wreaths were served by Wilma Burrack, Irene Gluck, Eric Fietz and John Vagts. Gertrude Grosshans was chairman of the entertainment committee for the evening. The next regular meeting of the society will be held on Jan. 14.

"W" Club

A highlight for all "W" club members each semester is initiation of new members. On Friday evening, Dec. 10, nine new members were royally escorted to the electric chair through the belt line and other amusing situations. Ernest Opperman, president of the club, was master of ceremonies. Upon the completion of ceremonies all members enjoyed a show. The following were received as new members: Leslie Stanek, Martin Dettmer, Richard Wagner, Egbert Wagner, Norman Becker, Gordon Gorney, Wilmuth Fruehling, Paul Wenske and Herbert Paup.

Wartburg Girls Aid in Choir Service

Assistance was given by a small group of students from Wartburg college to the Junior choir of St. Paul's Lutheran church in presenting their candlelight service last Sunday afternoon in the church auditorium. This service was under the direction of Miss Charlotte Becker, who was assisted by Miss Betty Wiederaenders and Miss Rosamond Eckstein, the latter two being students at Wartburg. Solo parts in two of the selections by the junior choir were sung by Miss Rosamond Eckstein, while Miss Wiederaenders assisted Miss Becker in conducting one of the songs sung by the choir. A violin solo was rendered by Miss Lorraine Eckstein, also of Warthurg. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Rosamond Eckstein.

SEMINARY FORUM GIVES PROGRAM

Students, Faculty Members Hold Christmas Program In Sem. Dining Hall.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 15, students, faculty members and their wives gathered for a fellowship supper in the seminary dining room. Immediately following the clearing of the tables, a unique Christmas program was carried out under the supervision of the student forum.

When the guests learned that they were to be taken back to the first years that were spent in the little red school house, they discarded their dignified expressions and were ready for an evening of fun.

Herr Lehrer Karl Ufer brought his primaries to order. In appearance this class seemed more capable of explaining some philosophical theory than of giving their recitations and struggling through their musical numbers. However, Master Erwin Seidel himself led before the spectators and gave his mouth organ solo. On the other hand, Walter Pfeffer seemed to tighten at the cords as the time drew near for him to give his fiddle solo.

Herr Ufer had not realized that he had such harmony in his class until Carl Schultz and Billy Robert began to sing a duet, "Up On the House Tops." The primary class executed many other interesting numbers.

The evening's entertainment closed with the singing of several Christmas carols by the group.

REV. KREBS PERFORMS 50TH BAPTISM

Rev. Louis G. Krebs, alumni vice-president, baptized his 500th person Nov. 7, since his ordination 19 years ago.

The little boy, who received the name Richard Allen Henning, was presented with a specially inscribed Bible. Reverend Krebs is at present serving a pastorate at Davenport, Iowa.

REMEMBER?

Remember way back when the dorm proctors didn't have to worry about radio loud speakers, and when "joy riding" was their chief worry?

Here is an old set of rules found in the archives, dated presumably in 1921. Sixteen short years have seen many changes:

Every student is expected to observe a quiet gentlemanly demeanor; an offensive and annoying conduct toward his fellow students cannot be tolerated. Everyone is expected to respect the rights of others.

Gambling of any kind, the carrying of fire-arms, or the use of offensive or profane language will not be tolerated under any circumstances.

When using tobacco the students must abide by the laws of the state and must not use it on the campus except in Grossmann Hall.

Joyriding, with girls without permission of the director or dean of women, characterized by all reckless driving, rowdyism, or impropriety, or any reckless ride, shall not be tolerated.

Students are expected to keep their rooms neat and clean. Rooms must be ready for inspection at 8 a. m.

The occupants of the rooms are held responsible for all fixtures and furniture in their rooms. No pins, tacks, or nails should be driven into the walls. For pictures and other decorations make use of the picture mouldings. Do not mar or mark up the walls in any way.

Students are allowed two light bulbs in a room. If additional light bulbs are desired, he must pay extra and make the proper arrangements with the supervisor.

On privileged nights the student must be in at 10:30 p. m. if appearing after that hour he must present a valid excuse to the preceptor, who shall inform the executive staff through the president or through the vice-president.

There shall be no strolling after church or after any event, dating or after library hours for which permission of attendance has not been granted.

Any infraction on these rules or privileges may result in the loss of privileges as the executive staff in its own judgment may demand or provide for.

ALUMNI MEMBERS EDIT RELIGIOUS MANUAL

Becker, Seegers, Co-Authors of Manual for Instruction.

"Studies in the Bible at the Hand of Luther's Small Catechism" is the title of a manual of Christian instruction published recently by two alumni members, Rev. S. M. Becker of Clarksville, and Rev. A. J. Seegers of Fontanelle.

The authors prepared the textbook for their personal work in catechetical instruction in their own parishes. Other pastors who have used it have found the material helpful in this important part of youth training. It has proved "stimulating enough for both teacher and learner to encourage publication for use outside the parishes that provoked their writing."

The course, which includes written tests intended to be doctrinal aids rather than penal measures, is in the form of a loose-leaf note book to which special pages may be added at the user's discretion. This distinctive advantage makes it more flexible to the student's needs as well as the teacher's aim. The diagrams and graphs show a commendable adaptation to modern trends in educational methods.

The only criticism raised in a recent review of this manual in the "Lutheran Standard" was that in spots the language is slightly "highbrow" for the average catechetical student. Against the course in general, however, this charge cannot be leveled as the treatment is on the same educational plane as the students for whom it is intended.

Memorization of Bible passages is stressed throughout the course, encouraging the student not only to memorize the passage but also the scripture references. The suggested method for carrying this into effect is by urging the students to "start a memory verse card collection."

Rev. S. M. Becker co-author of the manual is president of the alumni association succeeding the late Rev. A. G. Wenninger this fall. He is a graduate of Wartburg Normal college at Waverly, and Wartburg Seminary at Dubuque and is filling a pastorate in Clarksville at the present time. Rev. A. J. Seegers is also a graduate of Wartburg and a prominent pastor at Fontanelle.

The mimeographed "studies" are now available and may be ordered through either of the editor-publishers.

CO-AUTHOR

Rev. S. M. Becker, alumni vice-president, recently collaborated with Rev. A. J. Seegers in publishing a manual of Christian instruction.

HEIST'S STUDENT IN HOLLYWOOD

Another of Professor Heist's pupils is on the road to fame, Frederick Feldman, formerly of Waverly, will have a part in the new Bing Crosby film. Mr. Feldman was for eight years a pupil of Professor Heist, head of the music department at Wartburg college.

As accompanist and score arranger for the "Three Sweethearts" trio, he is now working on the radio and in nightclubs as well as in the films. The members of the trio and their accompanist were all I. S. T. C. students together. Feldman has been with the trio since it began its radio work in Chicago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Feldman, who were Waverly residents before moving to Cedar Falls.

Mrs. Florence C. Lutz, nee Mardorf, wife of Pastor A. Hugo Lutz, passed away at West Union, Iowa, Tuesday morning, Dec. 7. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, West Union, and interment was at Monticello, Iowa, on Saturday afternoon, from St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

Seminary Notes

Alumni Heads Meet

The officers of the Wartburg Seminary association had their first meeting at the seminary on Monday, Dec. 13. All officers were present except Rev. Arnold D. Lungholt, first vice-president.

The outstanding business of the day was the passing of the resolution that the association publish a quarterly. This publication is to be called "The Quarterly of the Wartburg Seminary Association." Rev. M. E. Wellman, president of the association, will act as editor. Twelve hundred copies are to be printed and sent out to pastors, friends and other institutions. The first issue of the quarterly will be in the mail either by the end of this month or early in January.

Seminary vs. Seminary

On Thursday evening, Dec. 16, Wartburg Seminary played the Dubuque University Seminary. This was the preliminary game for the Wartburg College-Dubuque University basketball game.

The Wartburg Seminary squad consisted of nine men chosen by the student body.

Seventeen Students to Stay

Although a majority of students will spend the holiday vacation off campus, a number are planning on staying at the seminary. Nine students will spend the entire vacation at the seminary, while eight will stay for only a part of the vacation.

Many Attend Candle Service

A large audience was present at the candlelight service given in the seminary chapel Sunday, Dec. 12.

Library Receives $500

The seminary library has received $500 from the American Lutheran church for purchase of new books. New bookcases are continually being placed on the shelves.

Fred Fehling, instructor in the German department of the University of Iowa, presented a paper on "New Books" at the annual conference of modern language teachers held at Iowa City Dec. 3 and 4.

Miss Rosalma Neubauer, '37, now teaching at Plainfield, recently visited a brief time at Luther hall while on her way home to Oelwein, where she spent the week-end.

Knitt's Airmail Isn't Only Point of Interest in P. O.

Surprises, Shocks Are All in Order for Wartburgers.

Playing postoffice has its place, but to read the addresses on the mail of some of our prominent personalities also has its points of interest, to say nothing of Knitt's semi-weekly airmail and Wycoff's daily letters from home.

Probably the worst boner was pulled on Professor Wiederaenders. A large publishing company misspelled his middle name so that it read "Freak".

Mrs. Brehmer, who is in charge of the post office, almost mixed herself up in a dispute when she nearly sent "Mrs." Claude Huth's mail to North hall instead of Wartburg hall. Her alibi probably would have been, "How should I know?"

Grossmann hall residents were alarmed when mail arrived addressed to Mrs. E. H. Hertel. I suppose it was his mother's, though it is rumored coach opened one of the letters all by himself.

While we're speaking of Mrs.'s we might add that Mr. Raymond Kronberger was very pleasantly surprised to find a letter addressed to Mrs. Raymond Kronberger in his vacation mail.

Common errors in spelling noticed are Mr. Buhmer, Mr. Raden, and Mrs. Eugene Lexbensty.

Other more affectionate titles are Filthy McNasty Krebs, Adonis of Wartburg (you guessed it) Luetkens, C. Bubs Preach, Miss Elly Gross and Carlton Hugo Joseph Mall.

Janice Black's numerous letters from Bob White confuse the color scheme so badly that Kuek's occasional letter is necessary to relieve the tension.

The prize of the story goes to the Hebronites who received a letter addressed:—Herren Langholz, Wenske, Danitschek, Ellermeier, Senft, Fruehling and noch allen anderen Freunden zu Wartburg college, Waverly, Iowa.

OBSERVATIONS ON A LUTHERAN CHURCH COLLEGE

Professor Sverre Norberg, Augsburg college, in Lutheran Messenger, Nov. 1, writes: 'Now as to the Lutheran college a few observations are in order: 1. On a Lutheran basis, with the Lutheran doctrine of church and state, there cannot be any ill feeling or competition—envy between state education and Christian college education. The Lutheran college is not built in competition with state education, neither is it upheld in that spirit of competition. A Lutheran has only good wishes for the work and progress of a state education system, which seeks to impart to the youth, knowledge, visions and character.

2. But then, some will argue: The only logical thing will be to discontinue the Lutheran college. It was, once upon a time, in certain pioneer settings, of real vital importance—now its days are ended; that period is over. An European cannot but notice the basic notions behind this type of negative argument are suspiciously akin to the mentality of dictator states. Frankly speaking, if the Lutheran college did not have any other aim than to duplicate the state education program, then it ought to die. And the money could be used for missionary purposes. Here we face the decisive question:

"3. What is, in our day and age, the right of existence of a Christian college? First, as we have seen, it cannot be to compete with the state's educational system. How could it? Secondly, it is neither to offer some weak-blooded anemic Christian youngsters a secluded, carefree, fenced in, undangerous academical sanatarium, where they never should run into any intellectual or spiritual leadership. The Lutheran college cannot stoop down to such a low level. If Christian youth cannot face the hardships and struggles of real life and real education, they are not worthy of any education. Christian youth must never mean youth that is afraid of facing realities, a race of young weaklings who run away from difficulties, instead of conquering them in Christ, and with Christ, and for Christ. The Lutheran college is therefore never meant to be a nice cloister of academic seclusion.

"4. And that meaning is: To train and to educate Christian leadership in a modern world. Not to take youth out of the world, but to equip them—under God—with a living faith of victory and with as good and severe a training and education as possible, that they may go out into the world as Christian crusaders of love, knowledge and character. Not as mere fine specimens of graduates, but really as living letters of Christ to a very complicated and wayless modern age. If we see these things and whole-heartedly believe that Christ Jesus has a sovereign right to the American future, then we have only one thing to do at this moment. That is to prove our Lutheran idealism in a Christian faith which shows forth a liberal giving spirit."

—News Bulletin of the National Educational Conference.

James H. Rebholz, a student of Wartburg, was called home upon the death of his father, A. F. Rebholtz, who passed away early Monday morning.

REPAIR CHAPEL IN GROSSMANN

Lighting Fixtures Installed, Furniture Cleaned, Walls Scrubbed and Sized.

New lighting fixtures have been installed in Grossmann hall chapel, the furniture has been cleaned and the walls scrubbed and sized in preparation for the first coat of paint. The rest of the work will be carried out as fast as student help becomes available.

The Pre-theological society has been doing part of the work and the college has been furnishing other workers in order to speed up the project, so that the chapel may soon be used again.

According to present plans, the walls will be finished in ivory with drapes for the windows. The new altar has not been erected as yet. It is planned to work on the project again this Saturday in order that most of the work may be completed by vacation time. In the meantime regular evening chapel services are held in Old Main.

Those of the pre-theological society serving on the redecoration committee are: Immanuel Kuester, chairman, Elmer Hendricks, and Sigmund Sandrock.

I. C. P. A. ADOPTS 5 RESOLUTIONS

At the recent meeting of the Iowa College Presidents' Association the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, all colleges belonging to the Association, with one exception being represented:

1. That this Association adopt the definition of terms relative to scholarship and grants-in-aid as adopted by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

2. That every college list all available scholarships and grants-in-aid in the annual catalog, together with conditions on which they are to be granted.

3. That each college charge and collect tuition as printed in the annual catalog.

4. That this Association condemns the granting of scholarship, grants-in-aid or rebates to anyone on account of athletic prowess.

5. That the Secretary of the Iowa College Presidents' Association be requested to inform all High School principals of this action, also give information to the press, and receive and keep on file documentary evidence relative to athletic recruiting and subsidizing.

EXAMS ENROUTE! ARE YOU READY?

Just as sure as New Year and January come the midyears. At the risk of being tedious may we suggest a few things, some of which may be new to some of you, but all will bear checking even if old stuff to you. They have been found helpful by some of our friends.

I am a bird-lover. Two kinds of birds get what they go after. One group gets up early. The other scratches. Why not imitate both?

1. By cutting out unnecessary things, postponing the less essential, and getting all others off the docket at once.

2. See that you give your body a square deal. Regardless of your family's circumstances, or your own abilities, no student can afford to neglect shoes, hair, nails, clothes, or sleep, to have halitosis, a Russian shave or B. O., which I wish meant "Bathe Often".

3. Have a thought for the ventilation of your room. Then too, it is very extravagant not to take the best care of one's eyes, which applies both to the arrangement of light and over-work during rush periods.

4. Ask yourself, "How Badly Do I Want an Education?" A little thought will convince you that about every line of work you are thinking of has a bar across the door marked "Please prepare well before applying here." If you are inclined to be too easy on yourself, and most of us are just this, perhaps a twenty-four hour roster and a thought of the sacrifices back home, will cure self-pity.

5. Have you noticed how much more interested one becomes in the courses which he masters well? Try to master every detail, look up references, and ask about the knotty things, and see how practically every course begins to live and glow. Life is both dangerous and boring which is not lived on high gear, and I do not think that Christianity can be lived on low gear at all.

6. Have you tried getting your weakest subject first each evening for a week or two? This gives it a choice of your best time and strength and that sense of mastery which is the mark of a real college man or woman will come to you.

7. Be square with yourself in the matter of diet, recreation and sleep during your examinations.

8. There are breaks, both for and against one in examinations as in all of life, so why not be prepared to meet both kinds with your "head up?"

9. When one works as hard and as long as he feels he has a right to do his examinations—a n d who has a right to do less?—he finds that prayer is a most natural and helpful support. Not that one asks God to do his work, but to help one do his own work.

10. Perhaps some of you can do your best without being subjected to these periodical tests, but I know that I cannot. They always help me to review more carefully than I ever do without them. On the other hand, while there are very few absolute certainties in life, faithful and continued hard work is a very close approximation to certainty in bringing results. Mark Twain said, "All of us are lazy. Some of us admit it, others appoint a committee." He might have added, "and still others try to make excuses."—Rev. Clayton H. Ranck, student pastor at the University of Penn.

Films relating to physiology, geology and geography were shewn in the biology laboratory last Tuesday. Mr. Moen of the Shanks and Adams Jewerly Co. of Waterloo operated the Victor projector which he was also demonstrating to the Waverly high school at that time.

WARTBURG TIPS SPARTNS 49-44 IN CLOSE TILT

Harden, Opperman, and Becker Lead in Scoring.

(By Arnold H. Jahr)

In a hectic basketball battle the Wartburg Knights out-lasted the Dubuque University Spartans Thursday evening at McCormick gymnasium, Dubuque, Iowa, by the score of 49-44. Wartburg, holding a commanding 31-14 lead at half time, had its hands full staving off a desperate Dubuque rally in the last period. However, after the first three minutes of the game the Orange and Black quintet was never headed and by piling up a big lead in the first half was able to initiate their Iowa Conference campaign by chalking up a thrilling victory.

The game started slow with the Spartans opening the scoring with a field goal followed by a free throw by Wartburg, another field goal by Dubuque, two by Wartburg, and a free throw by Dubuque. With the score standing at 5-5 Opperman sank a long shot from far out on the court to put the Knights in a lead which they never relinquished. Three field goals in rapid succession gave the Hertelmen a 13-5 advantage, at which time Dubuque took time out. The rest seemed to have aided the Spartans and they tallied five points to pull within striking distance of the Knights.

After this brief display of power the Orange and Black opened up with a brilliant display of basket shooting with Luetkens, Harden and Opperman counting twice and Becker once to bring the score up to 27-10 in favor of the Knights. Dubuque counted two more field goals and Harden retaliated with two for Wartburg to end the first half with Wartburg at the long end of a 31-14 count.

The Knights came out strong in the second half with Kappmeyer sinking a shot to bring the score to 33-14. However, from then on the game took on a different aspect. Dubuque seemed to have found its basket eye and scored 18 points to the Knights' four to pull dangerously close to the Hertelmen with a score of 36-32 and ten minutes of the game remaining. Wartburg increased their narrow margin by two free throws but Kappmeyer went out on fouls with over seven minutes of the game left Rappath replaced him. The Knights rallied to score six points while the Spartans could chalk up only three.

With four minutes left to play and the score standing at 44-35, the Dubuque U. Spartans put on their last frantic rally to pull up within six points again. Oppy left the game at this stage on personals with three minutes remaining to be played and the Knights holding a slim 44-38 margin which seemed inadequate against a determined Dubuque five. With the score 47-42 Dubuque took time out to rest up for the last minute and a half remaining. The Blue and White sunk one more basket and with the score at 47-44, the Knights resorted to a stalling game. Harden, however, saw an opening and scored a final basket, the ball being in the air as the game ended 49-44.

It would be difficult to pick out any individual stars on the Wartburg team. Luetkens and Harden played a great game at the forward posts, working the ball down time and again within scoring territory and cleverly sneaking around their guards consistently to get shots at the basket. Becker did a good job of holding down the pivot position getting the ball off the bankboard and back into Wartburg's possession on rebounds of Dubuque shots. Opperman and Kappmeyer held down the guard positions and, while they were in there, kept their men well-throttled besides playing a hard driving offensive game. For Dubuque Peterson, Kizawich, and Schwartz stood out. Harden was high scorer of the evening with 14 points while Peterson was close behind with 13 to his credit. Opperman scored 12 points from his guard position. Special mention should be made of Luetkens who played a hard driving game in spite of the fact that his hand seemed to bother him slightly at times. All in all, the Knights presented a well-balanced, smooth-working outfit that should bring Wartburg a position high up in the Iowa conference standings.

In an opener the Wartburg Seminary team retained its title by trouncing Dubuque U. Seminarians by a score of 25-9. For the theologians, F. Landdeck scored 13 points to practically whip the Dubuque U. Presbyterians single-handed. Wartburg Sem. players who saw action were F. Landdeck, John Kammerer, Bill Klein, Nookie Staehling, Bruno Schlachtenhaufen, Clarence Eller, Harvey Berger, Werner Bischoff, Harold Kumpf. The team was coached by Merrit Bomhoff.

B TEAM LOSES TO SHELL ROCK

The Wartburg Rinkeydinks were turned back in their first game of the season at Shell Rock 42-31 on Monday, Dec. 14. Coach Huth substituted freely, giving 13 men a chance to show their wares.

In the first half of the rough-and-tumble encounter Shell Rock clearly had the advantage. Led by Pat Williams, an ex-Wartburger, the Shell Rock team piled up a commanding 26 to 12 lead.

When the whistle blew to start the second session, a rejuvenated Wartburg team took the floor and proved to be a very stubborn foe. The Rinkeydinks more than held their own during this period, although they could not close the margin of points which stood between them and victory. The final score was 42 to 31.

Throughout the game the Rinkeydinks proved to be a scrappy, determined team. Slingin' Sam Ellermeier garnered eight points for the Wartburgers, and Pat Williams 17 for the Shell Rock outfit.

INTRAMURAL BB IN FULL SWING

Canadians Lead in International Scramble for the Laurels of Victory.

The current intramural season was off to a flying start on Monday, Dec. 6, when war was declared between four of the six potential championship teams.

In the curtain-raiser, Kuester's classy Canadians outpointed Fritschel's adept Alaskans to the tune of 23 to 8. Taking into consideration the fact that this was the initial fray, both teams looked good. Kirchdoerfer, of the royal Canadians, broke into the scorer's column by pushing the pill through the hoop consistently for a total of 8 markers. For the losers Fritschel bagged two buckets and one charity toss.

Down South.

The nightcap was a closer game with Fruehling's marauding Mexicans finally taking the measure of Ihnen's Costa Ricans. When the battlefield cleared, the scorebook showed a slight 13 to 10 advantage for the Mexicans. The charitable Carleton Mall, Wartburg's phantom of the gridiron, finding that his own basket was too far away for him to do any immediate good for his team, swished a counter through the wrong basket. We expect Carleton to be the drawing card of the season. Fruehling was high point man for the winners with 7 points while the Costa Ricans divided their share of counters equaly among themselves.

North vs. South.

In the second series of intramural basketball games on Dec. 8, Fritschel's Alaskans froze out Fruehling's Mexicans by a score of 25 to 16. It was a rough-and-tumble game and the end of the first half saw the Mexicans out in front by a score of 11 to 9. The tide turned in the second half, however, and Chiz Wagner led the Alaskans to victory. Chiz personally accounted for 14 points, and his highest scoring opponent was Ellermeier, who scored four field goals for the Mexicans.

Strife in the Gulf Region.

Later in the evening the Porto Ricans defeated the Cubans, 20 to 14. It was a hard-fought game, in which 19 personal fouls were committed. "Little Poison" Huth led the scoring with 9 points for the cause of the Cubans. Wagner and Goppelt garnered 7 apiece for the Porto Ricans.

Kanucks vs. Porto Ricans.

In a tougher game than the score implies, Rich Wagner's Porto Ricans dropped a game to I. Kuester's Canadians by the score of 23 to 16. The score at the half was 4 to 2 in favor of the Canadians. At the end of the third period the two teams were tied at 16 all, but in the last session the Canadians finally pulled the ball game out of the fire with seven points in the last few minutes. Ackermann played the role of "Deadeye" with 9 points.

A Close Battle.

In the final game of the week of intramural play, "Unkie" Ihnen led his fellow Costa Ricans to a close victory over the hapless Cubans. With only a few seconds left to play "Unkie" scored the winning bucket with a fast dribble-in shot. The irrepressible Carleton Mall once more was the feature of the game. His teammates simply couldn't persuade Carleton to report to the referee before entering the game. Carleton just laughed and laughed, however, for he knew that the referee had known his name all along. In this mighty battle there was no high point man, for the simple reason that there weren't enough points worthy of mention.

Alaska vs. Cuba.

Two well-played, hard - fought intramural basketball games were played on the college gym floor on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 16. In the first, the Alaskans bettered their standing at the expense of the Cubans. The Alaskans were rampant throughout the first half, scoring 11 points to their opponent's 3. In the second period, however, the Cubans hit their stride and almost closed the gap. The final score was 14 to 9.

Kanucks vs. Pecos.

In the second encounter the Canadians won a last-minute decision over the Mexicans. Leading 7 to 0 at the half, the Canadians were not looking for much trouble in the second period. The first half proved to be the calm before the storm and the Mexicans had earned almost enough points to clinch the victory when the final whistle blew. The final score shows a 12 to 11 win for the Canadians.

CANADIANS TOP INTRAMURAL

E. Wagner Leads Scorers at College with 14 Points; Huth, Ackermann 13 Each.

KNIGHTS DROP GAME TO TUTORS

LaCrosse Teachers Defeat Hertelmen 36-21; Superior Playing and Height Wins.

The Wartburg Knights lost to the LaCrosse Tutors of Wisconsin last Thursday, in the second game of the season. The score was 36 to 21. Losing Becker and Kappmeyer by the foul route hindered the chances of the Hertelmen.

The only time the Knights threatened was in the first half when the score stood at 8-5. From that time on the LaCrosse quintet pulled steadily away from the Wartburg cagers. The half ended with LaCrosse holding the comfortable lead of 19 to 10.

Shortly after the second half started, Becker went out of the game through personal fouls. Later Kappmeyer followed Becker's footsteps.

Luetkens, seeing action for the first time this season, led the Knights in scoring with six points, while Becker of LaCrosse paced the Teachers with 15 points.

KNIGHTS CRUSH LENOX 66 TO 10

Hertelmen Run Wild and Smother "Hoptown" Quint in Seasonal Debut.

Playing literally over the heads of the shorter Lenox squad, the Wartburg Knights opened their basketball season with a 66-10 rout of the Crimson Tide from Hopkinton. The game, played in the local high school gym Monday evening, Dec. 6, proved to be only a warm-up for future conference tussles.

Using their characteristic style of passing around and working in the ball, the Knights, after a few preliminary shots, scored almost at will, piling up a 39-4 lead at the half. Coach Slasor's squad fought back grimly once for a few minutes as the second half opened, only to give way before the crushing attack of the Knights.

Enthusiastic Crowd on Hand.

There was still plenty of sitting room in the gymnasium when the game started, although the crowd on hand displayed plenty of enthusiasm, helped out by the cheer leaders and the pep band. The Knights in their orange jackets and black trunks made a colorful appearance as they romped out for a brief warm-up just before the game. The opponents wore their traditional crimson.

Becker got the tip off and a moment later, taking a pass, dribbled in for the first basket. He then added a free toss, to give Wartburg the lead in the first few minutes, which she never relinquished. Marty Heist, prep star of last year, was right at home on the high school floor and scored on a dribble in shot. Harden added a side shot and Kappmeyer added one of the gift variety.

Becker Sinks Eight Straight.

Becker after sinking another free throw opened fire with his back hand pivot shots, scoring eight field goals in as many shots. Heist, in the meantime, added three more baskets, two on beautiful feeder passes from Harden. The latter managed to score two more side shots of his own. A pair by Kappmeyer complete the scoring for the Orange and Black during the first period. Two free shots by Kirkwood and a dribble-in by Captain Jones were the sum total of the invaders' scoring contributions of the first half.

Second Half Slower.

Becker on the opening toss of the second half tipped the ball to Harden, who dribbled in for the two points. Taking a rebound a moment later he again scored. Co-captain Opperman, who had been busy breaking up the opponent's plays in the defense zone, added a free toss. The Crimson team, in the meantime steadied and for a few minutes actually seemed to hold the Orange and Black in check. Shooting recklessly, however, they lost the ball on rebounds, regaining possession only by intercepted passes or on out-of-bounds plays. Harden and Becker then added a couple more from the side. Opperman broke out of the defense zone again, intercepted a pass and added another two points to the rapidly mounting score.

Engelbrecht, who entered the game late in the first half, suddenly got his eye on the basket for a gift shot and a field goal. A free shot by Emmons and one by Sandrock plus two more shots by Harden from beyond the circle kept the crowd interested.

The Crimson star, Captain Jones, made a shot from just outside the center stripe. Kirkwood and Allen got in two short baskets from the side.

In the meantime Coach Hertel mixed in a few of the "B" squad to give them experience and to try out new combinations. And thus the game ended with an overwhelming rout of the boys from "Hoptown".

Two wins and two losses! That is the record for our cage team up to this date. Two conference tilts—one loss and one win. Not a bad record for early season play. After Christmas, the Knights should be in top form and will needs be since they will tackle one conference foe after the other, including such teams as Upper Iowa and Luther. The going will be tough but let us resolve to push on all the harder. Wartburg must finish in the upper division when the final reckoning of conference standings is made. Hear Ye! The clarion blast of the trumpet—ON TO VICTORY—ye Knights of Wartburg.

—S—

I Wonder If They Came Back

I caught a couple of side-lights on the Lenox team when they came up here to take a drubbing at the hands of the Knights. The Lenox student body boasts of 17 boys, 15 of whom are out for basketball. That leaves one for water boy and one for towel carrier. What is more, fair sex of that college warned the boys that if Wartburg beat them more than 20 points they need not return. The Hertelmen piled up a 56-point margin. I wonder if they are still wandering around!

—S—

Mighty Mite Matthias

Philbert Matthias is probably one of Wartburg's best athletes in consideration of his size. Otto is a shifty triple threat man in touch football, a demon of the ping-pong court, and horrors of horrors with a cue stick in his hand. Not only that but Otto can sing too. I have taken it upon myself to expound the athletic prowess of this "Mighty Mite" lest he be one of those unsung heroes that we hear so much about. And when it comes to fighting—oh boy—watch out. Otto packs a wallop like a mule's hind leg. In fact, Otto is such a fighter that in the last computations he led all other aspirants as far as personal fouls are concerned in the recent intramural contests.

—S—

"W. G." Disabled

Since the Little Knights fell victims to the Shell Rockers, Freuhling, our venerable foot-ball captain-elect for next year, has been stowing one of his "pedipodes" in a soft caressing tennis shoe. In other words he must have sprained it or something. Just goes to show to what extremes a fellow will go in the heat of conflict for the glory of the game.

Just a few gems from an athlete's Code of Honor:

To carry the fight to the opponents with the spirit of "the Old Guard that dies but never surrenders."

To be unselfish in endeavor, caring more for the satisfaction which comes from doing a thing well than for praise.

To fight with an unconquerable spirit, realizing with every act that, "the deed is the measure of the man."

To be unspoiled by victories, realizing that brave men are softened by success rather than by defeat.

—S—

Revenge Is Sweet

Thursday evening when the Knights took the Dubuque cagers into camp, they avenged themselves in two different ways—for the overwhelming defeat in football at the hands of the Spartans and for the close defeat in the cage game with the Dubuquers last year which incidentally went into overtime periods.

—S—

The height of indifference — Carleton Mall: he cares not for whom he makes a basket, and he cares not how many technical fouls he commits by obstinately refusing to report to the officials. "What careth I? Be charitable to your opponent!" quoth the great Hugo.

—S—

And so my dear readers, farewell. I shall see you next year (Don't rejoice, it's only a few days until 1938). Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all those who have had the extraordinary patience to read this column from time to time.

Clarence Eller of the seminary at Dubuque will preach an English sermon at Oelwein next Sunday, Dec. 19.

COLUMBIA WINS FROM KNIGHTS

Duhawk Quintet Prove too Strong as They Defeat the Aspiring Hertelmen.

The Wartburg Knights fell victim to the onslaught of the powerful Columbia quintet in a game played at Columbia gym, Dec. 17, the final score being 32-37. The Dubuqers took the lead in the outset and never relinquished that position, the score at the half being 19-12 in favor of the Duhawks.

The Knights, led by Becker, made a valiant attempt to close the gap in scoring. They made a determined drive in the dying minutes of the game and succeeded in coming within five counters of the victor's score. The Hertelmen seemed to lack the necessary offensive punch to cope with the opponent.

Becker played a bang-up gome for the Knights, setting the scoring pace with 13 points. Kappmeyer and Harden followed with 6 and 5 counters respectively. Moran and Kolfenbach showed up well for the victors scoring 9 and 8 points respectively.
